

state of the pod

WHERE SCIENCE MEETS SOCIETY

HOT AND DANGEROUS

NUMBERS THAT LIE

CALL FOR SCRIPT WRITER!

State of the Pod is Cornell's first and only student-driven podcast production team. We cover the emerging issues in science and tech, with an emphasis on their ethical and social implications. We're a team of motivated and passionate storytellers committed to crafting well-researched, original episodes that bridge the gap between the humanities and technical disciplines to make science issues more approachable to broader audiences.

About Us

- 11 episodes released
- Available on spotify, google podcasts, apple podcasts
- Partnered with Milstein & Investigative Biology Laboratories
- Currently producing season 3

Applying to SOTP

Applications will be accepted and reviewed on a rolling basis until Feb. 21st. Potential candidates will be contacted by Feb 25th for interviews.

please email your resume, writing sample and brief statement of interest to sotp.cornell@gmail.com

About the role

Writers work with producers and hosts to be the voice and visionaries of the SOTP production team! We are looking for a motivated digital storyteller with an eye for exploring the broader implications of science and tech issues to craft podcast scripts.

Key Qualities:

- Stays up to date with current events especially in science and tech
- Familiarity with podcast format
- Copy editing skills

Responsibilities

- 3-4 hour weekly commitment for spring '21
- Engage and collaborate with production team on episode content and interview styles
- Work independently and creatively without strict guidelines

Outcomes / what we can offer

- Access to 2 campus recording studios and rentable studio microphones
- Professional experience in writing and podcast production
- Portfolio building opportunity and credits on SOTP episodes

SCAN TO LISTEN!

our apps for podcast producers, audio engineers and designers also available on website

www.stateofthepod.com | Instagram | Facebook